Lost—A Baron's Daughter.

A Pittsburg special to the Philadelphia

Press says:

A romance of two continents with a sensational climax, involving the alleged kidnapping of the illegitimate child of a German millionaire, has just come to light in this city.

One day this week there called at the office of W. J. Jordan, a well-known attorney, a beautiful young German woman, who wished to retain his services to assist in recovering her child, which had, she said, been spirited away from the West Penn Hoffman, and her home is at Furth, a Bavarian city. Her father was a well-to-do shoemaker in his native town and had died since she came to America.

When Barbara was still in her early teens her beauty attracted the attention of a daughter of Baron Poertel, a wealthy nobleman, residing a short distance from Furth.

The result was that the shoemaker's daughter was installed in the castle of the Poertels as an attendant to the young lady who had admired her beauty. As Barbara advanced in years her beauty became the talk of all who saw her, and at twenty she was thought to be one of the handsomest women in Bavaria.

About this time Baron Adolph von Biener, the young son of a noble friend of Baron Poertel, came to the latter's castle on in-itation to spend the three months' leave of absence he had obtained, he being attached to civil government office. Adolph and Barbara fell in love with each other. Her betrayal followed. About a week before he was to leave Barbara tearfully told him that she would in time become a mother, and begged him to do something to hide her shame, as the knowledge of it would kill her father.

Baron Adolph, on account of social differences, declined to marry the girl. He told her he would give her money to take her away from her native city and support her.

He said he would also take charge of the child.

Patiently supplied with funds the girl was sent to this city where an uncle, William Kingman, resides. At Castle Garden a "chick" robbed her and put her on a train for Pittsburg. Arriving here she wandered about the streets until taken in by a German family on Smallman street. There she remained until Jan. 8, when she was taken to the West Penn hospital where her child, a girl, was born. Two days later a closely veiled lady, who had lost her child, called at the hospital. She wanted to adopt Miss Hoffman's babe, and by promising to write frequently and rear it as a Catholic, secured the young woman's consent. On January 11 the child was taken away, Barbara knew not whether.

For many weeks she lay in a fever.

Baron von Bieener, too, wrote asking her to go back to Germany, sending money and promising to care for their child. It was not until the middle of May that the young woman was able to leave the hospital.

Since then she and her friends have searched and inquired for the veiled woman in vain. Neither the hospital authorities nor the girl had seen her face or asked her name or address. Nothing has been heard of her since she took the little German babe away.

The hospital people say it was the girl's affair, not theirs, and that such cases are frequent.

But Baron Adolph von Bieener wants his daughter, and has instructed Barbara to employ counsel and spare no expense to find the veiled woman and recover the babe. Father Leo, of St. Augustine's Roman Catholic church, has also taken an interest in the case.

Once found, Barbara and her child will return to Bavaria and then there will be a wedding in Furth.

DEATH OF AN OLD PRIEST.—A dispatch from Anamosa, Iowa, says: "Robert Healy, an old and well-known citizen of this county, died Saturday morning, aged eighty years. The deceased was a native of county Waterford, Ireland. He received a classical education in the old country, entered the Catholic priesthood on attaining his majority, and soon after joined the Order of Trappists. In 1845 he came to America in company with the monks who established the famous monastery at New Melleray, Iowa. Healy was one of the leaders of this sturdy band, and maintained his connection with it until 1859, when he fell in love with a young lady who lived near the monastery, and whom he was in the habit of meeting clandestinely from time to time. The two became so deeply enamored that Healy finally broke the vows of life long celibacy he had taken by marrying the young lady, for which act he was expelled from the order and excommunicated from the Catholic Church. Disowned by his brother monks and denied the benefits of his church, he became morose and hypochondriacal, which resulted in partial dementia before his death.

During the civil war he entered the service on the Union side, receiving several wounds for which he drew a pension from the government. A few years ago his wife and two daughters removed to California, where they are now living."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.

Mrs. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP, for children teething, is the prescription of one of the best female nurses and physicians in the United States, and has been used for forty years with never-failing success by millions of mothers for their children. During the process of teething its value is incalculable. It relieves the child from pain, cures dysentery and diarrhoea, griping in the bowels and wind-colic. By giving health to the child it rests the mother. Price 25 cents a bottle.
